Dixie Highway paving wins award

Fairfield, OH - Last year's paving of Rt. 4 (Dixie Highway) gave City officials more reason to celebrate recently than just its successful finish in 2018.

Mayor Steve Miller accepted kudos and a plaque for the success of the project in Council Chambers given by the National Asphalt Association (www.asphaltpavement.org).

The City's project was recognized with the Larry H. Lemon Award for Quality In Construction. It is one of ten given nationwide by the Association to projects that involve under 50,000 tons of asphalt.

John R. Jurgensen Co. (www.irjnet.com) was the contractor on the project led by the City's Public Works Department.
